BARR COLONY DIAMOND JUBILEE

This Special Edition of the Meridian Booster is Dedicated to the Barr Colonists, who Settled in the Promised Land and Founded the City of Lloydminster.

IT ALSO PRESENTS TO ITS READERS A BIOGRAPHY OF MANY OF LLOYDMINSTER'S BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENTS, WHO HAVE PROGRESSED AND PROSPERED AND HELPED TO BUILD A THRIVING COMMUNITY.

APRIL 1903 . . .

The last "goodbyes" of relatives and friends had long since died away on that first day of April, 1903, and the throb of the boat's engines and the wash of the waves against the side were ample reminders that the S.S. "Lake Manitoba" was headed out into the Atlantic. A few hours ago the vessel, chartered for 690 passengers, but carrying 2300, had sailed from Liverpool for Canada. Overcast skies and the sombre grey of the ocean met the gaze of those on deck, and by this time the coast of England was just a blur on the horizon.

Planning for the voyage had started about a year before, and the response to the ideas of the Rev. I. M. Barr had been overwhelming. It is true that the vision was his of a colony of people from Britain in the Saskatchewan valley, but the necessary administration and lines of communication finally exceeded his limitations. The Canadian Government in Ottawa should probably have taken a hand in the affair before they finally came up with some help. Nevertheless, the boat, carrying almost 1600 more passengers than her chartered capacity, was tangible evidence of the success of Mr. Barr's initiative.

Much of the baggage wanted during the voyage never found its way into the cabins and bunk spaces, but was kept in the hold where it served as ballast for the boat already top-heavy with its overload of passengers. Nevertheless, the billowing Atlantic soon made itself felt, and those unaccustomed to the sea became a prey to the rolling of the boat. If this was not sufficient, the culinary deficiencies helped produce the inevitable effect. Some meals were described by those on board as rougher than those at a logging camp, and dissatisfaction began to grow over crowded conditions and poor food. However, there was no lack of activity on board. Concerts were organized and some first-class talent was discovered, which helped alleviate some of the discomfort, and the spirit of people who would not turn back kept them going.

Free land — all their very own — this was something like the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Most of those on board had never owned a square inch of land, but with four adult men in a family going together they could own a square mile — it was almost beyond their imagination. Mr. Barr conducted his "land office" on the boat and settlers stepped out from his door knowing that "somewhere in the Saskatchewan Valley they owned an estate" — or would, as soon as they proved upon it. In some cases, the fact that they had bought the land "sight unseen" was to prove costly.

The boat docked at St. John, New Brunswick, and five trainloads of settlers proceeded to roll westwards to the prairies. One whole train was allocated to haul the baggage. Saskatoon was the "end of the steel" in 1903 and the remaining 200 miles to the site of the colony was overland. A mere village 60 years ago, Saskatoon's railway station had no facilities for checking a trainload of settlers' effects, and it was dumped out beside the tracks. Moreover, some of the baggage was missing and the eager anticipation of many was frozen by the chaos over their baggage. Thoughts turned to the years of work put into earning enough money for the passage, personal and household effects and farming equipment. Mr. Barr, by this time, was nowhere to be found and the Rev. G. E. Lloyd, who had come as chaplain to the colony, saw that a leader was needed. Mr. Lloyd had served in Canada before as a Church of England missionary and also as chaplain of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada. With his quiet counsel and fearless outlook he inspired the more dejected to continue, and, when it was apparent that Mr. Barr would not continue any farther, Mr. Lloyd took over the leadership.

As much as possible of the necessary equipment had to be purchased in Saskatoon by those having the capital to buy it. Others hired out to work for a while until they could save enough. Most of the people who had just arrived were anything but farmers, knowing very little about agriculture and animals. Most of them fell prey to unscrupulous characters in Saskatoon who sold them decrepit oxen and scabby horses at fantastic prices. Having acquired wagons of sorts, after a few days in tents in Saskatoon, they started out in groups for the colony. To make matters worse, one of the people selling faulty animals was Mr. Barr's own brother.

There were more hardships in store. The animals needed water and would rush to the sloughs by the side of the trail, dragging the wagons with them. The wheels promptly bogged down in the mud and the wagons had to be off-loaded before they could be freed. Mosquitoes flew up in clouds — they had never tasted anything quite as good as the thick red blood of these newcomers.

But the situation was not all bad. These people had never seen so much unfenced land. The prairie was awaking from its winter sleep, and the color and magnificence of the sunsets defied the brush of any artists they had met so far. Families helped each other along the way and some of them found true Western hospitality in the homes of the scattered settlers they passed along the trail. Day by day the West cast its spell over them as they struggled with balky horses and obstinate oxen. Wheels came off in badger holes; people were lost and found again, and finally the sight of a few sod shacks told them they had arrived.

TO

From Across the Sea

Many things were needed which they didn't have; they had been told in England that this would happen, but they set about carving a home and a living from the prairies. They endured the heat of summer and the rigours of winter. Some were lost and froze to death in blizzards such as they had never dreamed about. Some found occupations in other fields of endeavour and in other localities from Winnipeg to Edmonton; but most of them remained to build the town and district of Lloydminster, named after the man who became their leader in a time of need and who later was the first Bishop of Saskatchewan. They wrestled with the soil and learned how to grow the best grain in the world, to raise international championship horses and to develop prosperous farms. In two World Wars they and their sons were quick to answer their country's call and served with valour on sea, land and in the air. The colonists didn't know it at the time, but they pitched their tents on arrival within a bowshot of the site of the first natural gas well in Saskatchewan.

What were their visions, 60 years ago? Fame, wealth, power? Perhaps. But, most of all, it was a home of their own, on their own land, where they could raise a family and put down roots. This they did, and thereby created a heritage for those who came after, whether they came from north, south, east or west. Lloydminster stands as a monument to their devotion and unswerving purpose.

Silent now; the log shack once did hear
Voices who came from lands across the sea;
Wrapped in snow and summer's sun each year
It stands—a tribute to their memory.

JOHN K. KEMP.

Quality Cleaners and Furs

Quality Cleaners was established September 22nd, 1948, by E. A. (Ed) Meyers as a press shop. The shop was located in a wood frame building on the site of the present Bodard building. The staff at that time consisted of one girl, a high school student, who worked part time. The equipment was one garment press, a small steam boiler and an improvised spotting gun. The dry cleaning was sent to Vermilion and pressed by Quality Cleaners, then delivered to the customer. In December of 1948 a dry cleaning machine was installed to improve service.

A fire that started in the chimney of the shop caused extensive damage to clothing and equipment. However, Ed. reopened again in April 1949, with the equipment and building repaired, although a large debt was created due to the clothing lost and damaged in the fire. With the dry cleaning plant housed in a wooden frame building, insurance companies considered the risk of insuring the business too great, and consequently no insurance could be carried.

On November 8th, 1950, Quality Cleaners rented one third of their present building from Campbell and Cleve construction. The installation of new equipment in the plant in 1952 required more floor space, with the result that Ed. purchased the building and formed the company known as Quality Cleaners Ltd., with E. A. Meyers, president, and Mrs. Marjorie Meyers, as secretary-treasurer.

By 1955 Quality Cleaners Ltd. employed nine people. It was in this year that the firm expanded to include New Way Cleaners at Vermilion, with Art Morgan as manager, and thus creating Quality Cleaners (Vermilion) Ltd.

Early in 1957, Ed. sold the Vermilion branch to Art Morgan, and enlarged the Lloydminster Plant to include a new laundry department, a large refrigerated fur storage vault, a fur cleaning and glazing service, and a fur salon was created for the sale of new fur coats.

Installation of the latest in dry cleaning equipment, called Coin-op. made the plant one of the most complete and up-to-date in the district, enabling customers to clean their own clothes in about 20 minutes at a cost of 25c a pound.

Quality Cleaners Ltd. are happy to be a part of the growing and prosperous community and hope to continue serving the people of Lloydminster and District with dry cleaning, laundry and fur needs.

Messum's Store 35 Years Old

Messum's Ltd. commenced business in the spring of 1927 in the premises known lately as Long's Bakery, and presently occupied by Lloydminster Glass and Millwork.

Following the disastrous fire in August of 1929, when almost all of the business section was destroyed, Messum's moved on December 18th, 1929, to a new building, on the site of which was Lloydminster's first bowling alley, built by Messrs. Turner and Guest in 1926.

The year 1963 marks 35 years of continuous service to Lloydminster and district as a retail store, engaged in ladies' wear, footwear and the dry goods field.

From Furniture To Hardware Store

After looking over many towns in both Saskatchewan and Alberta and seeing good points in both provinces, Art and Llué Hanson decided Lloydminster, on the border, an up and coming town, was a good place to start a business. In July, 1947, they purchased a furniture store on the present site of their hardware which they operated for three years.

They decided there was a need for a modern up-to-date hardware store.

In the fall of 1950, Hanson Bros. Hardware (Sunset Store), was officially opened. Due to a wonderful response from the citizens of Lloydminster and area, in 1956 an additional 2,000 square feet was added to the main floor, plus a mezzanine floor and office space overhead.

Their efficient staff of Henry Knight, Erna Britton, Elsie Nielsen and the latest member, Joe Dowell, formerly of Northern Hardware, Edmonton, take pleasure in assisting and serving the public in any way possible.

Art and Llué take this opportunity to thank their many customers and friends for their patronage over the years and hope to continue to serve them for many years to come.

a happy Anniversary and Congratulations to the Barr Colonists

... who 60 years ago, pioneered the Lloydminster district and could scarcely have foreseen the changes that would take place in our way of living as we enjoy the modern comforts of automatic heating. We are proud to be a part of this prosperous and progressive community.

The Store Where Men Are Suited - Phillips Men's Wear

R. H. Phillips established a branch of John Christie Ltd., in 1923, selling British Army surplus goods. This store was located on the corner where the Toronto-Dominion Bank is now situated.

In 1926, R. H. Phillips, purchased the building from John Christie Ltd., which had re-located on the present site of R. H. Phillips and Company.

Since that time and over the years the store has continued to expand with the community, the latest being an extension of the rear premises. This well lit and roomy store, offers a complete display of Men's and Boys' Clothing, to fully satisfy the needs and requirements of the shopping public.

... And still burning for almost forty years, the old "Pot Bellied Stove" provided a place to warm hands and a chat with the neighbors. The store has been modernized, but the stove remains as a symbol of the good old days.

Business College Provides Needed Facilities

The Reeves Business College, formerly Miller Business College, was founded some 20 years ago. Mr. C. J. Reeves, a former commercial teacher and office manager, purchased the existing college of that time in the spring of 1961.

Tuplin Gravel and Excavating

Tuplin Gravel and Excavating was incorporated in 1959 and is located on a two acre site, one mile south of the lights on Highway 17.

This firm is owned and operated by Frank Tuplin, who, with wife and family, moved from Maidstone, Sask., to Lloydminster in 1956. Mr. Tuplin at that time bought the general business and some equipment from Mr. Bill Armstrong.

As a result of the steady growth and construction within the Lloydminster area, the Tuplin business have also enjoyed a marked increase in the demands for their services.

Tuplin Excavating and Gravel employ 12 men during the work season and operate 2 one-yard track type shovels, two 1½ and 2¼ rubber tired shovels, gravel crusher, screener and dump trucks.

Mr. Tuplin and his company are proud to be part of this important milestone - Lloydminster's 60th Anniversary.

Upon purchase, the college building was completely renovated to provide modern and up-to-date facilities for the students. The courses offered were broadened and enriched to meet the continuing expanding needs of the business world.

The Reeves Business College is affiliated with two National Organizations, the Business Educators' Association of Canada and the Association of Canadian Commercial Colleges, thus providing a truly national diploma for its graduates.

At the present time, Reeves Business College provides business education facilities for residents of a 150-mile radius around Lloydminster. Local offices as well as those in centres such as Edmonton depend on this college for a supply of well-trained office personnel.

Harvesting in the 20's

In the 20's harvesting was done mostly by horse-drawn binders. It took days and several binders to cut down a field of grain, on the farm of Mrs. John Skinner's father, Mr. J. Hawson.

Ellis Pharmacy Built in 1940

Ellis Pharmacy opened their Drug Store in Lloydminster in October 1940 at their present location at 49th Street and 50th Avenue, under the ownership of H. A. (Pop) Ellis. Mr. Ellis operated the business until his two sons, Ron and Bob, returned after having served with the Armed Services during World War II. In 1946, "Pop" Ellis retired and the Drug Store has since been operated by his sons.

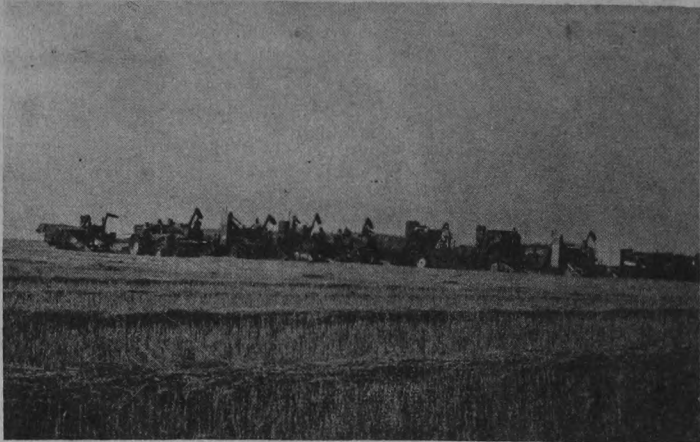

Many alterations and expansion programmes have taken place since the store first opened in 1940 to meet the growing needs of an expanding community and trading area.

Ellis Pharmacy offers a modern Drug Store service and carry a complete and modern dispensary for all your prescription needs. Cosmetics of such renown as the world famous Elizabeth Arden and nationally advertised brands are stocked, as well as a full line of stationery, including Coutts Hallmark Cards and Gift Wraps, Camera department and gifts department.

For all your Drug store needs you will enjoy shopping at Ellis Pharmacy, "Prescriptions a Specialty".

Harvesting in the 60's

Modern harvesting techniques made short work of John Serediak's field last year, when he was unable to work, and neighbors decided to swath his crop. It was done in only one day.

MacKay's Sand and Gravel

Commenced operations in 1951 under the ownership of Charles and John MacKay, with Mrs. Charles MacKay as bookkeeper. Equipment at that time consisted of one cat, a screener and two gravel trucks.

In 1957 the business became incorporated as a limited company with Charles MacKay as president, John MacKay as vice-president and Mrs. Mabel MacKay as the secretary-treasurer. 1963 marks continuous growth for the company which now operates with 18 employees, 4 cats, rubber-tired loader, crusher, screener, pickup truck, as well as 12 gravel hauling trucks, and two-way radio equipment.

Charlie MacKay was the first white baby to be born in the Oxville District (now known as McLaughlin). John was also born there. Their parents left New Brunswick in 1906 and came west to seek their fortunes, operating the Post Office and Telephone Service. Oxville was located about four miles from McLaughlin. Mrs. Mabel MacKay came to Lloydminster in 1927 as a teacher.

The MacKay family are very proud of the part they have played in the progress of this district, and shall continue to serve the area to the best of their ability.

Flower Shop Provides Year-round Service

Joyce and Ernie Gillanders came to Lloydminster on June 1st, 1954, to manage the Flower Shop that was established here at that time. It was owned by Mr. P. B. Milbanke of North Battleford, and operated under the name of Milbanke Flowers. The shop at that time was located at 4925-49th Avenue, in the Donnelly Block. We had an opportunity to purchase the business, after managing it for two and one-half years, and we took over on January 1st, 1957, at which time we renamed the business Gillanders Flower Shop.

Our business grew and prospered along with the City, and because of increased expansion we were looking for larger premises and more floor space by the end of 1958. On June 1st, 1959, we moved to our present location, in the Salt Building at 5011-50th St. With a few minor alterations we were able to adapt the building to the use for which we require.

We have one of the largest and best Flower Shops between Edmonton and Saskatoon. The store area is spacious and well lighted, and kept well stocked with flowering plants, decorative foliage and tropical plants, planters and giftware. Our large cooler holds a complete stock of fresh cut flowers at all times, and our requirements for even the busiest seasons can be accommodated in it, which assures our customers of receiving the freshest possible flowers every day. There is ample working area and storage space for supplies required in our business. We are well equipped to handle the expansion of business for several years, in Lloydminster and surrounding area.

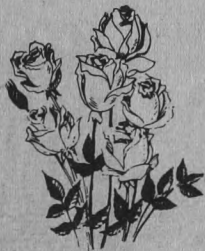

K. G. Myers Construction Established In 1954

Ken Myers established a construction business in Lloydminster in 1954. The business was incorporated in 1957 as K. G. Myers Construction Ltd., with his brother Don joining the firm. The Company has been the general contractor for many schools, churches, hospitals, commercial and industrial buildings in Lloydminster and neighboring towns. As a progressive step toward the needs of construction, a transit concrete plant is in operation. Designed to cope with the needs of a prosperous, and expanding community.

Moxley Drugs Established In 1913

Mr. Charles H. Moxley purchased the drug store in 1913. The store was burnt in the fire of 1929 but was rebuilt on the same location. Mr. C. H. Moxley continued to operate out of this business until his death in 1959. D. H. Palmer managed the business from the spring of 1959 until the end of the year, when R. H. (Bob) Baynton began operations in January of 1960. Bob Baynton remained here until July of 1962, when he decided to take up residence in British Columbia. The present operator is W. M. (Bill) Kondro who has lived in the community for 15 years. Through the number of changes which have been made over the years the name of the drug store has remained the same, that of Moxley Drugs.

At this time Bill Kondro and staff would like to extend congratulations to the City of Lloydminster on its 60th birthday and extend best wishes to any Barr Colonists in the area.

Lloyd Glass Expands Rapidly

Lloydminster Glass and Millwork opened for business in July 1960, with Glenn Culham as owner and manager, assisted by members of his family, a first-class carpenter and part-time help.

Dale Culham is in charge of the Rear View Mirror department and is very efficient at repairing them.

Blain Equipment

Blain Equipment are the I.H.C. dealers for Lloydminster and district since June of 1960. They handle the full line of International Farm Equipment and Motor Trucks, and through good service and a policy of fair dealing, have made exceptionally good progress.

They are located on 51st St. and 53rd Ave., and provide an excellent parts service and have first class mechanics.

Louis Blain, owner and manager, began his career as a farmer in Southern Saskatchewan during the dirty thirties. After leaving the farm, he then spent five years learning the machinist trade at Windsor, Ontario. He was then I.H.C. dealer at Lampman, Sask., for ten years and spent a year travelling north eastern Alberta selling road building equipment before taking over the I.H.C. dealership in Lloydminster.

Mrs. Blain, his good wife, does the office work, sends out the monthly statements, makes out the cheques and counts the cash. She also makes sure the money gets to the bank.

J. R. "Dick" Empson assists in managing the business, but most of his time is required for sales. Dick has a wealth of experience and practically grew up in the machinery business as his father was a machine and truck dealer in southern Manitoba during the early 1940's. Dick was an I. H. C. dealer at Lettelier, Manitoba, from 1945 to 1961.

Paul Kater, head mechanic, started with three years experience at technical school in Saskatoon, and since then has had 17 years experience as a mechanic, twelve of those years servicing I.H. trucks, tractors, balers and combines.

Dawson Thompson, mechanic, formerly of Radisson, Sask., has had 15 years experience in an I.H.C. dealership there, mostly as a mechanic, and has an excellent knowledge of the full line of I.H.C. equipment.

Al Foss is head partsman, having 11 years experience in I.H. parts and provides quick and accurate service.

Bob Finley is a good all-round repair man and machinery set-up man. He also has five years experience with steam engines and holds a certificate plus ten years of truck driving, moving anything up to oil rigs.

All the staff at Blain Equipment are happy to make Lloydminster their home, and look forward to serving the community for many years to come.

Verne LaBar

In May 1950, Verne LaBar, working by himself, began as a carpenter, cabinet maker, and boat maker in Lloydminster.

By 1952, he had set up a cabinet shop in a 20x24 foot double-door garage. The demand for this type of work was so great that he had to hire men to help him keep up with the orders.

Business was steadily increasing when in February, 1956, fire completely destroyed the garage, equipment and tools. This was replaced by a 20x30 foot garage and shop which was used until 1959 when a 24x40 foot shop building was erected.

As his business and the necessity of hiring more carpenters increased, this shop also proved to be too small, and in 1961, he constructed the shop and general office at 4202-50th Avenue where his business is now located.

Verne LaBar Construction employs from six to ten men and has expanded his business to include a full line of house and general contracting as well as cabinet and boat making. At this time, he is considering building onto his present shop so that he will more readily be able to meet the demands of his customers.

Taylor Pearson and Carson

Taylor Pearson and Carson first opened in Edmonton in 1927, Calgary in 1928 and Lethbridge in 1929. Since that time they have added 12 smaller branches throughout Alberta.

Lloydminster was the first of these branches, being opened in 1932 to serve the automotive, implement, appliance and electronic dealers. The reason for choosing Lloydminster as a first branch opening was the fact that Lloydminster, then a town, and now a city, was the centre of a thriving group of towns and farms.

Since opening in 1932, Taylor Pearson and Carson have progressed steadily along with the community.

IMMIGRATION HALL, JANUARY 1904—This building was constructed by the Barr Colonists, and paid for by the Dominion Government. The purpose of the building was to house those immigrants arriving in Lloydminster with no accommodation. It was later sold to a Mr. Dafoe, in 1926, who tore the building down and constructed three homes from the material. These homes are still standing in Lloydminster and are located on the east end of 50th St.

Congratulations TO THE City of Lloydminster UPON THE CELEBRATION OF ITS Diamond Jubilee

The affairs which your community will attend to daily this year will bring to mind one of the outstanding accomplishments in the settlement of a new and unknown land. Sixty years ago this summer, a mixed company of old country farmers, tradesmen and professional people, known as the "Barr Colony" ended a long journey from England to settle and build homes on the north west plains of Saskatchewan. Here in this park-like country of this Province, under the leadership of The Rev. Exton Lloyd, this band of first settlers founded the Town of Lloydminster.

The remarkable growth of Lloydminster has been a monument to the courage and character of its original settlers. From this pioneering settlement of 1903 and its hardship and privation, you have built in the short span of 60 years a prosperous trading and business centre and a successful agriculture of livestock and grain production in the adjoining rural country side.

Your achievement has long since earned the respect of the people of this Province and has attained a distinguished place in the history of Saskatchewan.

We will look forward with confidence to your future progress and development.

May we, in offering our congratulations to you, also extend our sincere best wishes for a most successful Jubilee.

EXPANSION RESULTS IN NEW BUILDING

R. E. (Dick) Mayston came to Lloydminster from Turtleford, Sask. In March 1956, he purchased his business from E. Amundrud, the building being situated on 49th Street east of the Meridian. On April 1st, 1961, he moved his rapidly expanding auto electric business into his new quarters situated on the corner of 49th Avenue and Highway 5.

In 1961, Mayston Auto Electric added the New Holland line of machinery, and became known as Mayston Auto Electric & Machinery Ltd. The Minneapolis-Moline line of machinery was added in 1962.

It is valuable for a centre to pause and to review the

Harris Electric Co. Ltd.

Harris Electric Co. commenced business in Lloydminster in 1948 under the name of Harris & Derraugh. A few years later Mr. Derraugh left the partnership and Ron Harris operated the business alone until 1958 when he was joined by his brother Alfred, who had formerly had his own business at Colonsay, Sask.

In 1960 a limited company was formed, and in October of 1961, Harris Electric Co. Ltd., moved to their own building, their present location on 50th Avenue in Lloydminster.

Harris Electric Co. Ltd. would like to take this opportunity to extend congratulations and best wishes to the City of Lloydminster on this, their Diamond Jubilee, and to wish every health and happiness to the honourable founders of our fair city, The Barr Colonists.

Kershaw Electric

We have been in Lloydminster since the summer of 1949 and started in the electrical contracting business in 1956, and in 1960 started an electrical appliance store.

After selling six different makes of major appliances, we changed to Westinghouse exclusively. By handling one line only (Westinghouse), we, Merle and Jessie Kershaw, are able to give you, our customer, better prices, better quality merchandise and better service.

1926 FORD CAR—Purchased by George McKay in the fall of 1926 from Arthur Bellward. Mr. Bellward had driven the car to and from the west coast during the summer, and upon his return, he sold it. The pile of ice and the fur robe on the car were typical winter sights of the early days, and are still seen occasionally.

HARVESTING 1926-27—On the farm of John Charters in the Warwickville district. The Massey-Harris combine was one of the first to make its appearance in the district.

The Graham Gardiner Story

The first passenger train to arrive at the temporary terminus of Vermilion, via Lloydminster in the late fall of 1905 carried among its passengers the family of George Gardiner, of whom Graham was the youngest son, then 13 years of age.

After acquiring a grub stake with their entire capital of $45.00, they borrowed a team of horses and a wagon and drove a distance of 32 miles to the homestead of an older son, Frank, who had filed on a quarter at Hazeldine and had a log shack nearing completion.

Later that same fall the newly arrived members of the family moved across to the east bank of the Vermilion River to the Lindsay Ranch where Mrs. Gardiner cooked for the gang during the winter and the boys helped out with the chores.

In the spring a log shack was built on Mr. Gardiner's homestead, but coming from a long line of businessmen, George Gardiner having been a corn merchant in England, it was natural that his mind should turn to merchandising and he opened a small grocery business in their first home. Graham and Lewis hauled the freight for the store from Islay, in winter plodding along behind the slow moving oxen teams to keep warm.

By 1909, the Gardiners built a new log store and living quarters on the present Graham Gardiner homestead where the trail from Cold Lake to Vermilion intersected their land. This flourishing business was given up in 1913, three years after Mr. Gardiner's death.

The prosperous war years followed when the world clamored for wheat and beef and, ever the opportunists, Graham and Lewis plunged into land and cattle. However this brief period of prosperity was terminated by the hard winter of 1919-20, when the cost of feed rose to $1.00 for a fork full of hay and the price of beef fell until many had to pay to have their cattle shipped to market.

Appraising their losses in the spring, the two brothers signed a joint note at the bank, Graham acquired a wife and they settled down to milking cows, feeding pigs and to mixed farming. The $20,000 note was eventually paid off with cream cheques.

Opportunity knocked again in 1926 when the C.P.R. put through their line from Lloydminster to Edmonton and, quick to get in on the ground floor, Graham took out the agency for Chrysler cars and the Cockshutt Plow Co. Ltd in 1927. The first gas pumps, repairs department and garage were operated at Graham's farm home site. The first General Store was built in Hazeldine in 1927 and rented to Wm. Campbell of Marwayne.

Lewis and Graham formed a partnership under the name of Gardiner Bros. and in 1934 they built a garage on the townsite and moved the pumps and stock from the farm to Hazeldine. In 1935 they acquired the store and Post Office.

Lewis moved to Vancouver in 1939 and the partnership was dissolved and Graham took over the whole business under the name of Graham Gardiner, he and his wife keeping the home fires burning and the business operating during the war years.

A new garage was constructed in 1947, and in 1953, Ken and Frank MacLean joined the business under the firm being incorporated under the name of Graham Gardiner Company Ltd. on January 1st, 1958.

Another step forward was made in 1959 when the Company decided to expand and a large modern building was opened in Lloydminster on Highway 16, West.

In order to serve the community to a greater extent, this building was doubled in size in 1962 and now houses show rooms, parts departments, offices and spacious, modernly equipped working areas.

One Loaf of Bread . . .

How did it start? Like most human endeavors—from sheer necessity.

December 15th, 1936, our boss, Mr. J. A. Jaynes, reluctantly informed us that he could no longer employ a baker; we're out of work. But, being human, we still have to eat.

December 17th, 1936, Claude baked a batch of bread. Our good neighbors, Bert and Bertha Shortell, asked if they might buy a loaf. We're in business ! !

April 1938, Doctor Gordon purchased the property from Mr. Jaynes and kindly offered to rent part of it to Donnelly's Bakery.

In the fall of 1947, Doctor Gordon retired and we purchased the property from him. After a considerable number of years of keeping fit by jumping into and out of debt, we finally achieved our aim.

We take this opportunity to thank the many, many people who helped us along the way. We are grateful for your patronage and hope that we may continue to be of service.

Radio Electric

Radio Electric Centre started as Modern Electric in October of 1949 by R. A. Ingrey. In 1950 the business moved to its present location under the present name, having then J. Hawkes associated as a partner. Hawkes departed after about a year and since that time the business has operated under the sole ownership of R. A. Ingrey.

Radio and appliances are sold, serviced, and Television added when it became available. All makes of small appliances are repaired, also electric ranges.

Electrical contracting is the main business of the establishment embracing all work from small additions and repairs to larger complete installations within a radius of 30 to 40 miles of this city.

Some of the larger jobs done during the past, include: the Queen Elizabeth School, Martin Browne School, Jubilee Home, Pioneer Lodge, Lloydminster Auxiliary Hospital, Retarded Children's School. Locally new schools in Lashburn, Lone Rock, Maidstone, Marsden, have been done in recent years and currently engaged in the construction of a new school in Neilburg, Sask.

Inquiries for all types of electrical work are invited and can guarantee satisfactory performance on all. We especially can do first class work in the re-wiring of older houses.

Single Truck Business Grows To Fleet Of Forty

In the late twenties John MacKay started in the trucking business with one truck, hauling grain and livestock on a local basis. This operation continued for a number of years. Then in 1939 his operations expanded to the highway transportation business, hauling foodstuffs, machinery and furniture and other commodities, both east and west of Lloydminster, under the name of MacKay's Transport.

The firm has expanded its operations with the needs and growth of the community over the years and presently serves Lloydminster and District from Edmonton, Saskatoon, North Battleford, Cold Lake and Camrose on a daily basis.

MacKay's Transport Company Ltd., which was incorporated in 1960 presently operate a fleet of over 40 motorized vehicles and 45 trailers made up of Vans, Reefer Units and Flat Decks. The firm presently employ 45 to 50 people.

Essar's Jewellery

Essar's Jewellery is now moving into its tenth year of service to Lloydminster. Since 1954, when the business was purchased from Mr. Frank Nundahl, Essar's has watched a period of vigorous expansion and change through out the district. On the Meridian alone, many new buildings: Macleod's, the OK Econom. Store, the National Cafe, Harris Electric, Joe's Cleaners, Woolworth's, etc., point to this fact. Many other buildings have been renovated and remodelled as well.

Throughout the whole area there has been much advancement in cattle breeding and more implementation of good farming practices, especially aided by the trend to "start them young" in the many 4-H Clubs surrounding the city.

Essar's too, has progressed, the most recent advance being a new name for the business—Essar's Jewellery Ltd.

The future holds a bright promise for the Lloydminster area. We at Essar's will be watching with interest to see which direction this expansion will take in the next decade and will be ready to serve the community as we have done in the past.

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH OFFICE, 1904 — This Telegraph office served as a means of communication between Lloydminster, Onion Lake and Old Battleford. It also served as a means to cope with the Indian situation after the time of the Riel Rebellion.

Leed's In Lloyd At Two Locations

Leed's Dept. Stores located a branch in Lloydminster in 1957 managed by D. C. (Dave) Wilkinson. Leed's carry a full line of ladies' and mens' ready-to-wear.

In 1960 Leed's felt the need in Lloydminster and district for a fabric centre and shortly opened "Leed's Yardstick", next door to Fisher's. They offer on the spot service in sewing needs as well as patterns and custom draperies.

Leed's policy is to give prompt and efficient service and to maintain high standards of quality merchandise at reasonable prices.

The Management and Staff at Leed's are proud to be playing a part in the growth of the Border City and surrounding districts.

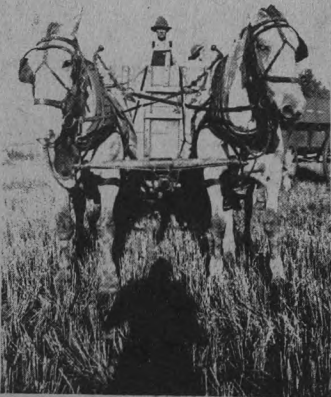

Lloydminster's First Hotel "The Alberta"

Built as a one-storey hotel by Miller and Robinson in 1906, the Alberta Hotel has changed hands and been remodelled extensively in its 57-year history. The original builders did not operate the hotel but sold it to Donald Erwin and Andy Hudson who ran it for an unknown numbers of years. Jack Nixon sold it in 1926-27 to Harry Rumble. Percy Marshall and Alphonse McBride were 1934 purchasers. On January 1, 1945, Nick Ewanowich became the owner and manager, and on May 1st, 1961, it was sold to Steve Babyn and Joe Yakimec, of Camrose.

The past two years have seen a complete program of renovation in the Alberta Hotel. The licensed premises, rotunda, dining room, kitchen, and the first floor rooms (now with baths) have all been modernized. The Hotel has parking facilities for 100 cars. About 14 persons are employed in the hotel.

Steve Babyn, manager, has had a number of years of experience in the hotel business, having operated the Camrose Hotel prior to the purchase of the Alberta Hotel in Lloydminster. It is his desire that patrons will enjoy their stay and every effort is put forth for the comfort and convenience of the guests.

First Sidney Roofing . . . Now Domtar Construction

Early in 1950, the management of Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd. in Victoria, B.C., were looking over sites here on the prairies for the construction of a roofing mill. At first they thought Edmonton would be an ideal site, however, after further research into the excellent asphalt qualities here in the Lloydminster oil field it was decided to locate the plant along side the Husky Refinery. The mill was constructed during the winter months in 1951.

It was ready to go into operation in the summer of 1951. On August 24th the first railway cars of shingles produced by the plant left Lloydminster. This date marked the opening day of the plant. The Honorable Anders Aalborg officiated in the opening ceremony.

Since 1951, the tonage of finished products manufactured by this plant has continued to increase. We find that over 75% of the employees who started working in the early history of this mill are still employed today. The payroll of the plant supports over 40 families the year round. Products are shipped to all three prairie provinces and parts of B.C. This industry helps in the economy of Lloydminster by giving work to local transport firms, retail outlets and machine shops.

In August, 1962, the plant changed ownership and was purchased by a very large company - Dominion Tar & Chemical Ltd., with Head Offices in Montreal. The plant is now in a division of this company known as Domtar Construction Materials Ltd.

The plant has a safety record that all of Lloydminster should be proud of. It has operated 1,734 days without a lost-time injury. This is almost five years. The products coming off the production line are of top quality and there is a definite future for this plant, which is staffed by the citizens of Lloydminster.

In 1928 Tom Johns purchased the general insurance business operated by A. Stuart Pollard. At that time the office was located in a frame building just east of the post office.

During the past 35 years, expansion has been steady in line with the growth of Lloydminster and area. In 1958 the name was changed to Tom Johns Limited, and now offers many services to local residents. These include: general insurance, the largest agency between Edmonton and Saskatoon; real estate, specializing in residential and commercial properties; and travel, representing all major airlines, steamship, rail and travel organizations.

Expansion of services also meant an increase of staff, and now includes: Tom Johns, President; Roy Johns, Secretary-Treasurer; Alan Johns, Doug. Hessam, Jim Doyle, Mary Crawford and Virg. Quarton.

New offices were built two years ago, just 75 steps west of the post office, designed for the convenience and efficiency of the business operation. Tom Johns Limited are pleased to be a part of Lloydminster's growth and look forward to further expansion in the years to come.

READY FOR THE HUNT—And no doubt it was successful as other pictures have proven. Game was more plentiful in those days, and of course the meat was widely used to supplement the pioneer diets. Of vintage design, the car was of the convertible type, as the warm heavy clothing of the hunters would indicate.

Lloydminster, one of the heaviest cattle-populated areas of the west, had no feed mill. Believing that one would greatly benefit the farmers and ranchers, plans were arranged by Canada Packers and work began in May, 1958.

On December 1st, 1958, Holt's Farm and Ranch Supplies opened for business. Mr. Allan (Scotty) Fleming delivered the first load to be processed.

Each year more new customers use our service and buy our products, coming from Edgerton, Maidstone, Neilburg, Marwayne, Dewberry, Lashburn, Paradise Valley and Vermillion, etc.

It has been proven by feeders from all over the west that to make money feeding livestock and poultry, the services rendered at the feed mill are a vital part of feeding operations.

The H. B. Hall Story

During the later months of 1902 and early in 1903 Herbert B. Hall, a resident of Gagetown and Saint John, New Brunswick, made up his mind to take his family out west to Red Deer, Alberta. The Rev. George Exton Lloyd, hearing of Mr. Hall's decision to follow the slogan 'Go West, young man, go West', wrote to him from England and suggested that he join the party then being assembled under the leadership of the Rev. I. M. Barr when it arrived at St. John, and travelled West with them, settling in the area set apart for the British colony.

education out here. He moved into the settlement and went into partnership with Mr. Geo. H. Scott in a general store business under the name of Hall, Scott and Company. In 1906 this partnership was dissolved, and H. B. Hall continued in the grocery and dry goods portion of the business, and Mr. Scott, along with his brother Bert, took over the hardware part of the business under the name of Scott Brothers, later to be known as the Northern Hardware Company. Both Hall's of Lloydminster and the Northern Hardware, now in Edmonton, are still active and respected store structure was not occupied until the advent of the New Year.

There was a general desire in the community to have a fitting celebration of Christmas, but the problem of adequate premises for such a gathering was a consideration. The partners Hall and Scott were approached and prevailed upon to stay in their refrigerated premises a little longer so that a Christmas Concert could be held in the vacant store. This was so successful an event that it inspired a desire to dance over the old and dance in the New Year. Both of these attractions drew capacity crowds, and provided material for many a letter home, wherever that may have been.

During part of the period of the Hall-Scott partnership, the freight had to be brought into the new settlement over the trail from Saskatoon or freighted down the North Saskatchewan River from Edmonton. This latter entailed a party going to Edmonton, building a scow, loading the goods on board and guiding the 'galleon' down the river to Hewitt's Landing. Mr. Scott usually went up with such a party and was in charge. On one of these hazardous trips when the scow was loaded mostly with flour, it struck a rock and sank. The flour was rescued from the 'drink' and piled on the shore to dry. The outside surface caked on the inside of the bag, keeping the remainder of the flour dry inside. After shipping to its destination by team and wagon it was all sold at a discount. We wonder if the present-day 'Discount Stores' had such an interesting beginning!

A man who afterwards spent a number of years in the employ of Hall's Store, in the person of Mr. Eric Rendell, was a passenger on such a scow in the Spring of 1904. At the tender age of one year, he followed his Barr Colonist parents out from England in the care of a Miss Harvey.

Until about the middle of the present century Hall's were large dealers in raw fur. After

The Rev. Lloyd had been Anglican rector at Rothesay, N.B., and had performed the marriage ceremony uniting Miss Laura Parks of Rothesay with Herbert Hall of the same place.

Mr. Hall followed this suggestion, and soon was busy planning the move. He packed and assembled two railroad cars of 'settlers effects'. Each car was half filled with household requirements and the other half loaded with horses and his purebred Hereford cattle. Thus it was that a notation was made in the Hereford Association's Record Book in Calgary that H. B. Hall had brought the first herd of purebred Hereford cattle to the Lloydminster district.

H. B. had attended the Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario, so was ready to continue his farming career in the West. He soon had to change his plans when he found that it was likely to be some years before his children could expect adequate businesses in their respective communities. In both cases a younger generation is at the helm.

The original store was approximately 25 by 60 feet, to which later was added another 25x60 feet with a second storey above the enlarged building. Before this, a temporary store was used. This was merely a wooden frame part way up, topped with canvas. It was constructed on the bare prairie on the ground which is now 50th street between Hall's and Fisher's stores. This temporary store was well ventilated. In the summer it was overheated and in the fall and winter not lacking in fresh air. Business was carried on here until the end of December, 1903. This brings us to the reason the enlarged that time regulations were imposed, which made it unbearable to cope with the restrictions. During their early years in the fur business, fur was freely bought and sold, with no licensing and no tax to pay and keep track of. When it got to the point where it became necessary to send your fur in to a central depot before you could sell it, with no guarantee that you would get your own fur back, the situation got unbearable to the independent Hall disposition. This part of their business was therefore dropped.

During the war of 1914-1918 came a period of strain for H.B. Hall owing to the shortage of man power in the country. First of all, Mr. Raymond Fern enlisted in the Canadian Army, and later H. B's son Steve also joined up and did not get back until June of 1919.

In the summer of 1929, Hall's along with many others, had their store burned down in what proved to be to this day Lloydminster's most costly disaster. It could be added here that this proved later to be a somewhat forward step, as most of the buildings destroyed were of frame construction and when rebuilt were of a much more permanent type and a decided improvement to the town.

In the following year Hall's employed Mr. Walter Street to supervise the construction of a new store. As a result of Mr. Street's expert knowledge and direction, Hall's still have a building that is a solid structure and a credit to the builder.

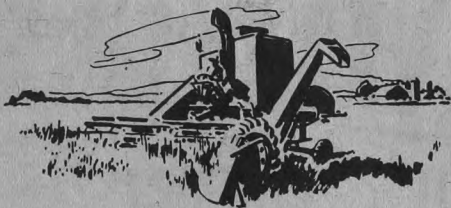

Much more could be written of the Hall story, but our present objective is to feature the pioneer part of the Lloydminster panorama. In spite of efforts on the part of H. B. Hall & Son Ltd., to dispose of their business, they are still very much a part of the business life of Lloydminster, and although we wish them well in their efforts to make a satisfactory disposal of their business assets, we welcome too, the fact that Hall's is still an active business in our community.

Congratulations To Lloydminster

From Ice Cream And Milk Shakes To 'Kentucky Fried'

Sellers Dairy Freez in Lloydminster started in 1954 — the first of its kind between Saskatoon and Edmonton. The original building was 16 by 14 with $4,000.00 worth of equipment. The staff at that time consisted of Mrs. Sellers and one girl, with Jim helping during the evening and weekends. In 1955, Jim and Buddy moved to their present location constructing a new building, with present dimensions of 16 by 54, and a staff of 22, equipment costing in excess of $23,000.00, to help this booming trade along.

Car Hop service was instituted six years ago, and to further customer satisfaction, 2-way radio was incorporated; this service being unique within itself as it was the first 2-way service offered to the general public west of Winnipeg. Sellers Dairy Freez has progressed over the years since first starting as an ice cream and milk shake stand.

Over a period of seven years, Jim and Buddy have added something new to each year of operation; and now offer to the public eating delights such as Fish and Chips, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Buckeye Root Beer, and last but not least, Pizza Burgers, all designed to make this stand appealing to every whim and fancy on the road today. Jim and Buddy certainly appreciate the response of the public to their offerings at the Dairy Freez. To further enhance the offerings, the lot at the Dairy Freez will be hard surfaced this year, and plans are being prepared for a new building.

Jim and Buddy Sellers would at this time thank all the citizens of Lloydminster and district for their wonderful patronage, and they will continue to maintain a high standard of service and quality that has become a status symbol of Sellers Dairy Freez.

... And Now Downtown

The Steeg Brothers, Ted and Irwin, opened their downtown business on the corner of 49th Ave. and 48th St., in December 1960, with the Volkswagen dealership. In 1961, they opened the Rambler dealership in conjunction with the original dealership. Prior to the move downtown, Ted and Irwin, operated Smiling Service on Highway 16, which opened July 1st, 1953, offering to the public the first 24-hour service in Lloydminster. In 1956 Smiling Service was sold to Graydon Willard, and Steeg Bros. Esso Service was built, further west on highway 16. This service was later sold to Imperial Oil Ltd., resulting in the move to downtown Lloydminster. Previously, Ted had been with OK Economy for ten years, and managed the Lloydminster store for a number of years. Irwin lived in Humboldt for thirteen years, before coming to Lloydminster. Rich, the youngest of the three Brothers, joined the firm in 1961.

Floors Unlimited

One of Lloydminster's newer businesses formed in July, 1960, by Bob and Les Malanchuk and located just north of the post office, gave Lloydminster and district the first complete specialized floor covering outlet.

Bob and Les, both born and raised on a farm in the Saskatoon district, farmed in that area for several years before moving to Saskatoon where they entered the construction field and have both worked with wholesale and retail building supplies. At that time they began installing floor coverings as a side-line and found this work to be very interesting and a field that had plenty of opportunity, so they turned to this specialized trade and began contracting from floor covering retail outlets such as T. Eaton's, Simpsons, Clark's Interior Furnishings, Hudson Bay and City Lumber yards of Saskatoon. It was one of these contracts that brought them to the Lloydminster area, the Lashburn School in 1957 and the Martin Browne School in 1958. During this time contacts were made with contractors in this area which resulted in contracts for Moore's Funeral Home, Hillmond School, Lloydminster Junior High School, McCaw's Funeral Home, Masonic Hall, C.K.S.A. Building, O.K. Economy Store and many local homes.

It was observed that this vast and productive agricultural area held a good potential for a specialized service in the interior decorating field, so in the spring of 1959, Bob and family moved to this city to take up permanent residence and to lay out plans to open a store. He was followed shortly by Les and family. They obtained their present location and (after several improvements) opened for business in July of 1960, sharing the premises with Lloydminster Glass and Millwork, and displaying the finest in resilient floor coverings and a small amount of carpeting. The customers response proved favorable and warranting more professional help, the company was joined by Ervin Malanchuk, who moved his family to Lloydminster in September of 1961.

In July of 1962, Floor-On renovated their sales area to provide their shopping customers with a wider selection of quality carpeting and draperies. After another successful year of operation, they are in the process of renovating and redecorating their entire sales area and will be able to present customers with a much better display of merchandise. With their trained personnel, they will now be able to provide a more efficient service in assisting customers with their purchases of resilient floor coverings, carpeting, draperies, paint, floor maintenance products and furnishings.

Floor-On invites you to their one-stop home decorating centre to see their modern displays and meet their friendly sales staff, Les and Bob Malanchuk, Dawn Barradell, and their installation experts, Erv Malanchuk, Bill Foley and Floyd Sawtell.

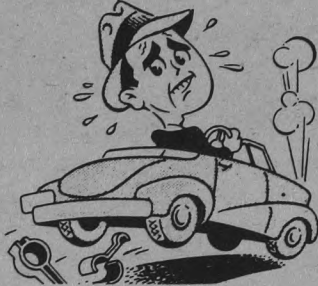

We would like to extend our congratulations to Lloydminster on its Diamond Jubilee and are proud to be a part of this thriving community.

Pioneer Auto

Pioneer Auto Wreckers first located in the Old Log Church on 50th St. Sam Walker purchased the business from Brian Lowrie in the fall of 1955, and following the transaction, Pioneer Auto moved to its present location one half mile south on the Meridian.

In 1962, a new building was constructed to further facilitate the tearing down and the wrecking of old and damaged autos and farm machinery of all makes and models.

Parts for all makes and descriptions of cars, trucks, tractors, and combines are handled and shipped to all points across Canada.

AT THE BEACH — Mrs. Edward Skinner and her three children, John, Bill and Edith are enjoying the bright sunshine at Sandy Beach. The little building was moved out to the beach so that shelter, and a place to stay made camping more enjoyable. The picture was taken about 1918.

Another of Lloydminster's businesses with almost 22 years of service, Fisher's 5¢ to $1.00 Store Ltd. opened its third addition in April of this year.

September 12th, 1941, saw the opening of their first store in Lloydminster, located on the Alberta side of the Meridian in part of what is now Matheson's Groceteria. Since those war years, when the store opened, it has now moved to the Saskatchewan side of Lloydminster on 50th Street, with the latest addition opening on to 49th Avenue.

Mr. S. J. Fisher, who opened the store here, is the father of Ken and Erd, who are now president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the Company.

With a floor area of some 1600 square feet in 1941, the store handled smaller types of variety merchandise. However, keeping pace with Lloydminster's growth required more space, and the new store on 50th Street was built in 1949, Ken having joined the firm in 1946. Floor space was increased in the new store to 9,000 square feet.

Erd came in 1957 and the next year a self-serve operation was instituted and a basement section opened. April of this year saw the latest addition, and the store now boasts 18,000 square feet of space, together with wide aisles and the latest in lighting and shopping convenience.

The main floor has 12 departments, while the basement has another 12. Merchandise is now featured on a family-store basis, with wearing apparel for mother, dad and the children, as well as hardware, jewellery, cosmetics, sporting goods, toys, furnishings, bedding and a host of other items.

Built up through years of merchandising that have stood the test of time, Fisher's is today one of Canada's most modern self-serve variety stores. Mr. Fisher Sr., and the present officers of the Company can view with well-merited pride their place of business, which becomes more a part of Lloydminster with each passing day.
